WASHINGTON, D.C. (March 7, 2018) – The ADAP Advocacy Association today announced that it has filled two vacancies on its Board of Directors for 2018. Newly seated board members include Lyne Fortin, B.Pharm, MBA of Montreal, Canada, and Lisa Johnson-Lett of Piedmont, Alabama.

“Both Lyne and Lisa are dynamic, professional women who bring to our board very different, but important perspectives,” said Brandon M. Macsata, CEO of the ADAP Advocacy Association. “Each is committed to ensuring that the patient remain the focal point of the awareness, education and collaboration put forth by our organization.”

Lyne Fortin, B.Pharm, MBA, is a pharmacist who graduated from the University of Montreal in 1982 and later obtained her MBA from Concordia University. She worked for most of her career with Merck & Co. and is, since 2013, the Chief Commercial Officer at Theratechnologies, a global specialty pharmaceutical company headquartered in Montreal, Canada dedicated to addressing unmet medical needs of people living with HIV. Her responsibilities include addressing the special needs of HIV patients in the United States dealing with excess abdominal fat and multidrug-resistant HIV-1 infection.

Lisa Johnson-Lett is an entrusted Living Well Peer Support Specialist who is originally from New York City and now resides in Alabama. Lisa served honorably in the U.S. Armed Forces – Army for 10 years and is a graduate of the Audrey Cohen School of Human Services and Education. Lisa holds two degrees: Bachelors of Professional Studies - Human Services and Associate Degree – Speech Communications. Diagnosed with HIV while serving the country in 1995, Lisa learned to embrace HIV well surpassing the criminalization and stigma. She has involved herself in Peer lead support groups and partnerships with numerous organizations.
