RE: The Future is Now – Welcome to the Age of Injectables

Dear Stakeholder,

The ADAP Advocacy Association and its new ADAP Injectables Advisory Committee are pleased to share its new comprehensive patient advocacy report, HIV LONG-ACTING AGENTS: Policy Considerations for Injectable Therapies under the Ryan White HIV/AIDS Program & State AIDS Drug Assistance Programs. This document provides a checklist of the main concepts requiring robust policy and programmatic conversations with people living with HIV/AIDS, as well as all the other local stakeholders within the local service delivery system regarding injectables.

We hope our report assists you, in your local community, in addressing the issues and complex topics to remove barriers to accessing care and treatment. It may also act as an informative tool for your ongoing advocacy at the local level, as well as your state, regional, and national perspectives.

Our ADAP Injectables Advisory Committee included:

Michelle Anderson, The Afiya Center
Tori Cooper, Human Rights Campaign Foundation
Donna Sabatino, The AIDS Institute
Jennifer Eliasi MS, RD, CDN, Theratechnologies
Marcus Hopkins, Appalachian Learning Initiative
Jen Laws, Community Access National Network (CANN)
Warren Alexander O'Meara-Dates, The 6:52 Project Foundation
Dawn Patillo-Exum, Merck
Glen Pietrandoni, R.Ph, Avita Pharmacy
Cindy Snyder, ViiV Healthcare
Alex Vance, International Association of Providers of AIDS Care (IAPAC)
Marcus Wilson, Janssen Pharmaceutical Companies of Johnson & Johnson
Joey Wynn, Florida HIV/AIDS Advocacy Network (FHAAN)

This dedicated group of advisors poured their passion, expertise, and sincere hopes into this collaborative effort. We truly hope it is a beneficial tool to aid local PLWHA communities, especially those involved in HIV planning bodies at local state and regional levels. Thank you.

Best Wishes,

Brandon M. Macsata
